

Seminar Tasks : Moral Psychology

Stephen A. Butterfill
< s.butterfill@warwick.ac.uk >

Tuesday, 19th September 2023

Contents

1	Seminar 1	2
1.1	Question . . . . .	2
1.2	Reading . . . . .	2
1.3	Preparation . . . . .	2
1.4	Lecture Notes . . . . .	2
1.5	Where to Find the Reading? . . . . .	2

1. Seminar 1

1.1. Question

What are ‘moral intuitions’ according to Sinnott-Armstrong et al. (2010)?
What is these authors’ central claim about them? And what evidence supports this claim?

1.2. Reading

- Sinnott-Armstrong et al. (2010)

1.3. Preparation

Please follow the instructions for Seminar Tasks.

1.4. Lecture Notes

- Two Questions about Moral Intuitions in Lecture 01
- Moral Intuitions and Emotions: Evidence in Lecture 01

1.5. Where to Find the Reading?

In some cases the reference section of the lecture notes already includes a link to help you find the reading.

If there is no link in the lecture notes, start by searching for the title (and, if that fails, by title and authors) on google scholar. If this fails, the library has resources. If those fail, please check first with others on the course. If you still have problems, you may email your seminar tutor.

References

Sinnott-Armstrong, W., Young, L., & Cushman, F. (2010). Moral intuitions. In J. M. Doris, M. P. R. Group, et al. (Eds.), The moral psychology handbook (pp. 246–272). Oxford: OUP.